Farm Legislation

Watered Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shape of an abject compromise—an extension of present emergency wheat and feed grain programs—emerged Friday as dust settled after the stunning defeat of the administration's farm bill.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., introduced the new measure after holding a glum post-mortem on the death of the farm bill with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Democratic members of his House Agriculture Committee.

Such a one-year extension of present programs was just what Republican farm leader Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa tried to substitute for the administration bill on the House floor Thursday night. His amendment failed, but the later move to kill the bill carried 215-205.

No Choice
Cooley said, "We have no choice but to turn to the program that is the second best available to us. We cannot afford to return in 1963 to the Benson farm program which filled our warehouses with surpluses at a continued cost of billions to the taxpayers. This is what will happen if we do not act at all."

Cooley told the House he hopes to win committee approval of the new bill Monday.

The emergency one-year wheat and feed grain voluntary control programs will expire this year unless new legislation is passed, and the law would revert to the 1958 act of Republican Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, which provided price supports on any amount of grain produced.

Meanwhile, Freeman's office issued an angry blast saying the American farmer and American taxpayer "will not soon forgive the Republican party for its blind opposition" to the administration bill.

The present emergency grain programs have a voluntary acreage reduction feature.

The bill that was killed would have clamped mandatory acreage reduction controls and national marketing quotas on wheat and feed grains, the most troublesome surplus crops.

Republicans termed it a monstrosity that would mean "regimentation or ruin" for farmers. Despite a lengthy list of sweetening amendments accepted by the leadership, 48 Democrats joined the Republicans to pigeonhole the bill.

Both Cooley and his vice chairman, Rep. W.R. Poage, D-Tex., said the first inkling they had that their bill was down the drain was halfway through the roll call.

Cooley said that before the vote started, "It was sure we had it. I felt better about it than I did at any time up to then."

Hoeven said Friday he thought one-year extensions of the present laws were what Congress would wind up with.

"They tried controls last year and got beaten and they tried controls this year and got beaten."

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP)—Flight engineers have called a strike against Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways for 1 p. m. Eastern Standard Time Saturday unless new contracts are reached.

They rejected as "completely unsatisfactory" the proposed settlement worked out for a similar dispute between engineers and Trans World Airlines.

FOUND DEAD — Margaret Ann Kennedy, left, 16, and Noreen Buckley, 17, right, missing since a shopping trip June 20, were found beaten and dead in a wooded area near Morristown, N. J., June 21. Both were students at the Bayley-Ellard High School in Madison, N. J. These pictures are copies from the Mitre, 1962 yearbook of the high school.

Affect 200,000 Workers

Railroad Talks Break Down

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad management broke off negotiations with 200,000 operating workers Friday over work rules that the employers consider call for unnecessary jobs.

The unions, made up of engineers, conductors, trainmen, firemen and switchmen, maintain the rules are needed for safe and efficient transportation service.

It was the second time since May 17 that the carriers had broken off talks with labor. Management accused the union negotiators of stalling efforts to reach a settlement of the dispute.

A statement issued by the railroads said it had become "painfully clear" that the five unions had no intention of accepting any part of the recommendations of a special commission appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to work out an agreement.

J. E. Wolfe, chief spokesman for the carriers, informed the union representatives and Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board, who has been sitting in on the negotiations, of the carriers' decision. It was a brief meeting.

"It is obvious that no progress can be made by prolonging the present endeavor," Wolfe said in a statement handed to Edwards and the union chiefs.

The unions issued a statement after the breakoff in which they charged the carriers engaged in "a deliberate, irresponsible, determined effort to force a transportation crisis."

"Since the start of the present conferences, carrier representatives have sought unilateral application of the presidential railroad commission's report and adamantly refused to negotiate issues," the statement said.

Later, at a news conference, Wolfe indicated the railroads would put into effect all the recommendations of the special commission as soon as the railroads are legally free to do so.

The unions have threatened to strike if the carriers try to put the recommendations into effect without an agreement.

The presidential commission, in February, recommended that about 41,000 firemen on diesel locomotives in yard and freight service be eliminated over a period of years. The firemen's union has a membership of around 60,000.

About 14,000 firemen with less than 10 years seniority would be laid off within a year after the recommendations became effective. Jobs of another 27,000 with more than 10 years service would be eliminated as the workers quit, retired or died.

The railroads contend, and the commission agreed, that these men are not needed on diesel locomotives.

In addition to the gradual elimination of firemen, the commission called for an overhaul of the wage and hour system. And it suggested pay increases for most of the men who man the trains.

The carriers accepted the report. The unions rejected it.

Wolfe said the next step under the Railway Labor Act should be an offer of arbitration by the National Mediation Board. He said the railroads would agree to arbitration provided the issues were within the framework of the commission's recommendations.

If arbitration is rejected by either party, the next step would be for the board to inform President Kennedy that an emergency exists, Wolfe said.

Under the Railway Labor Act, a 30-day cooling-off period would then ensue, after which the President could appoint an emergency board to step in and try for a settlement.

After another 60 days the railroads would be free to put the special commission's recommendations into effect. The unions also would be free to strike.

111 Killed In Jet Disaster

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP)—All 111 persons aboard perished Friday in the crash of an Air France Boeing 707 jetliner on this French Caribbean island.

Authorities said seven children and four babies were among the passengers on the plane that crashed in a predawn storm while attempting a landing.

The crash toll was the same as that of a Caledonian Airways plane that went down near Douala, Cameroon, last March 4. They were the second worst single plane disasters in commercial aviation history.

Only the crash of a chartered Air France Boeing on takeoff at Paris' Orly Airport June 3 took a higher toll, 130 persons, including 121 members of the Atlanta, Ga., art association.

Search crews who circled in the air over the Guadeloupe wreckage of the $5.5-million jet said it had exploded on impact and that the debris—scattered over a mile area—had burned.

Nothing Left
"There's nothing left of it," said James Welsh, head of the U.S. Information Agency in Guadeloupe, who flew over the disaster, site on a forested hillside in his private plane. "It's a terrible sight."

Air France originally had announced a toll of 103 passengers and 10 crew members. The airline twice reduced the passenger figure by one.

The final figure dispelled uncertainty which had persisted for hours among authorities on both sides of the Atlantic.

A list announced by Air France showed 10 crew members. They were headed by Capt. Andre Lesieur, 42. A veteran who at times piloted French President Charles de Gaulle, he had logged more than 15,000 hours of flying time, including 1,800 hours in the Boeing 707 on intercontinental flights.

It was June 3 that a chartered Air France Boeing, with leaders of Atlanta's cultural and business communities among the 121 passengers, faltered and crashed on takeoff at Paris' Orly Airport. In all, 130 persons were killed. It was the worst single-plane tragedy in aviation history.

The plane wrecked on Guadeloupe, which leaves Air France with 18 of the big U.S.-built four-jet craft, was named the Chateau de Chantilly.

Landing points scheduled on its route from Paris were Lisbon, Portugal; Azores and Guadeloupe; then Caracas, Venezuela; Bogota, Colombia; Lima, Peru, and Santiago, Chile.

Jet Crash 2nd Worst In History

NEW YORK (AP)—The Air France crash at Guadeloupe Friday, killing 111 persons, tied the record as the second worst commercial single plane disaster.

A Caledonian Airways plane which crashed last March 4 near Douala, Cameroon, also killed 111.

The worst aviation accident of all time was on Dec. 16, 1960, when a United Air Lines DC8 and a Trans World Airline Super Constellation collided over Staten Island, N.Y., killing 134. Six were killed on the ground.

On June 3 of this year an Air France 707 crashed at Orly Airport, Paris, killing 130 persons. That was the worst commercial single-plane accident.

Others:

June 18, 1963—129 persons, all servicemen, killed when Air Force C-124 Globemaster crashed near Tokyo.

June 30, 1966—128 persons killed when United DC7 and a Trans World plane collided over Grand Canyon.

Goldwater Suggests JFK Staff Shuffle

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Friday night that President Kennedy should replace some of his brain-trusters with "hard-headed businessmen" to spur a revival in the economy.

Goldwater declared that the country must avoid the experience of Austria—"which triggered the greatest depression the world has ever known"—by adopting policies which will greatly accelerate the rate of capital investment.

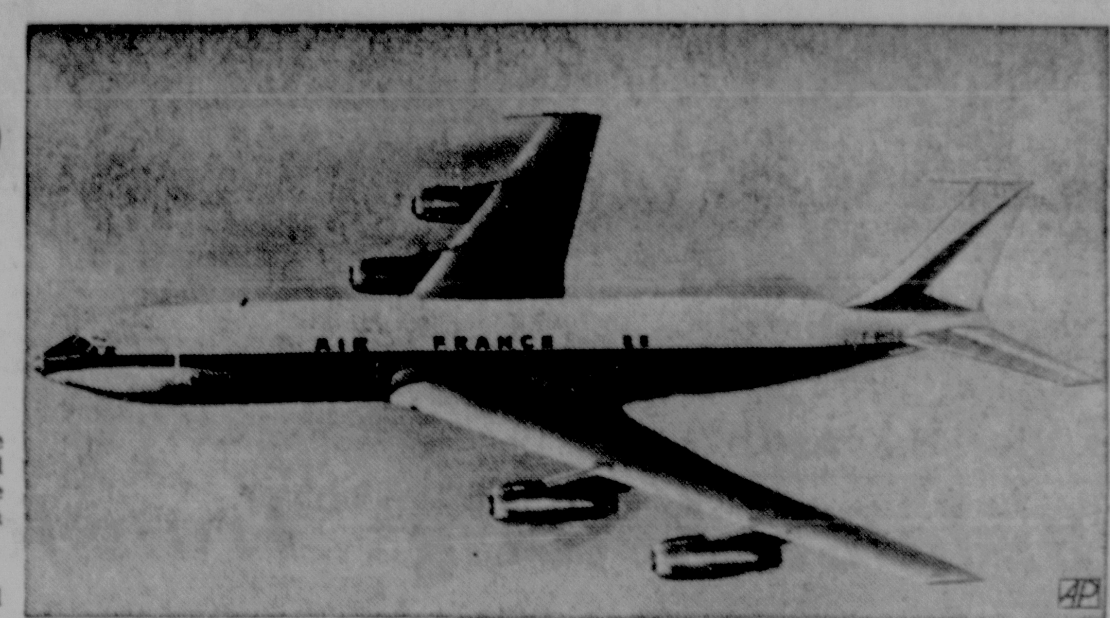

In a speech prepared for the annual convention of the National Editorial Association, Goldwater suggested Kennedy begin cutting government spending by "jettisoning one of his own bills"—the Senate-passed measure calling for $750 million in public works with standby authority for $750 million more.

He said Kennedy should couple a dramatic veto of the public works bill with the offering of "a realistic program for liberalization of depreciation allowances in the tax structure."

While the Nationalists have been talking about an offensive against Red China for some time, the Hong Kong sources say the possibility seems remote. It would require a mainland uprising first.

The mystery is why the Nationalists, who always have warned of the danger of Red Chinese aggression, played down the latest forebodings of Washington.

Could it be that Washington obliquely is telling both the Nationalists and the mainland Communists to avoid any action which might embroil the United States?

AIRLINER CRASH—This is an Air France Boeing 707 airliner, type of which the airlines said crashed on the Caribbean island of Guadeloupe June 22. The plane, en route from Paris to Santiago, Chile, carried more than 100 persons.

'Floundering-Thrashing ...'

Ike Scores Administration At Fund-Raising Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Friday night the Kennedy administration is "floundering—thrashing aimlessly and a bit desperately while the nation's economy worsens and its people become fearful."

In a hard-hitting speech prepared for a sell-out crowd of 3,000 Republicans at a congressional campaign fund-raising dinner — the former president attributed glaring failures to the Democrats.

Eisenhower charged that the Kennedy administration "seems almost driven to alienate major elements of the business community" and said recent events suggest it wants to "dictate the economic decisions of management."

$100 A Plate

To Republicans assembled in two hotel ballrooms for a $100-a-plate dinner, Eisenhower said members of the GOP will maintain bipartisanship on foreign affairs throughout the coming congressional election campaign.

But he said the party has a responsibility to protest the "political maladministration, malfunctioning and maladjustment in Washington."

"Quite obviously, this administration is floundering — thrashing aimlessly and a bit desperately about — in the surging financial, fiscal and economic currents of our times," Eisenhower declared.

"Its difficulty appears to stem primarily from an inadequate understanding of our American system—of how it really works, of the psychological, motivational and economic factors that makes it flow."

Eisenhower revived the "mess in Washington" phrase which he used in winning the presidency in 1952. He told the Republicans they would never succumb to a sterile negativism, and went on:

"Merely resistance and complaint, and criticism of the mess back in Washington, will never be enough."

"Happily, we have programs that are truly constructive, and a leadership competent to serve the nation's needs."

"So starting tonight, let's set out on an unrelenting campaign, with all our talents, all our numbers, all our resources, to make certain that victory will be ours—victory in 1962—and then, victory in 1964."

Would Be Natural

From the Western viewpoint, a four-power meeting would be a natural strategem to emphasize over-all Soviet responsibility in East Berlin as an occupation power.

The Russians usually turn aside protests over shootings on the grounds that East Germany is a sovereign country and is responsible.

American sources said the question of an international authority to control access to West Berlin was discussed with Adenauer although Rusk was reported to feel this is now a hypothetical question.

Numerous calls were received by The Daily Record office and Hamlen Airport, Mrs. Harold Hamlen went to the office where she was unable to contact the pilot by radio because he was using another frequency.

Mrs. Hamlen had been alerted by a telephone call from her husband who was in Stroudsburg at the time. She called the Allentown tower and was assured that the plane was in no trouble and had an adequate quantity of gas to reach its destination, probably McGuire Air Force Base.

While waiting for clearance, the pilot circled the area, in visual contact with the ground. Upon being told he was able to change altitude, the aircraft continued to its destination.

Although this is the first time a plane has used the Stroudsburg area as a "beacon," the practice of circling or "holding position" is quite common, the air dispatcher at Allentown tower said.

"In order to keep the airplanes from being crowded and risking a midair collision, planes must wait their turn," he explained.

Contract For Road Given To Morrissey

HARRISBURG (AP)—A $2,810,120 contract for work on a Monroe County feeder road to the Key-stone Shortway was awarded Friday to a Philadelphia firm by the State Highways Department.

James D. Morrissey, Inc. will construct 4½ miles of an earth separated portion of Route 209 in Hamilton and Stroud Twp., between Snyderville and Stroudsburg. The firm also will construct five bridges on the section.

Josiah's Reforms

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Kings 22, 23.

Josiah became king of Judah when he was eight, the first good king for many years. He began his reforms by repairing the temple; there the high priest discovered the "book of the law," long missing and forgotten. —II Kings 22:1-8.

When it was read to Josiah, he "rent his clothes," for he saw how grievously his people had sinned, departing from God's laws. A prophetess told him that Jerusalem would still be punished, but not in his time. —II Kings 22:11-20.

The book was then read to the people, and Josiah proceeded to destroy all the pagan idols and altars of Judah and killed the preachers of corruption. For the first time in many years, Passover was celebrated. —II Kings 23:1-23.

When the Pharaoh Neco of Egypt started to take his armies through what Josiah considered holy land, on his way to battle the Babylonians, Josiah challenged him and was killed. —II Kings 23:28-30.

GOLDEN TEXT: Luke 6:46.

Today's Lesson:

Josiah's Reforms Transform A Nation

By N. SPEER JONES

Scripture — II Kings 22, 23

WITH this lesson we begin the third quarter of the year's lessons, one devoted to "Later Hebrew History and Prophecy."

The passages assigned portray one of the most remarkable reigns in history, that of Josiah, king of Judah from 638 to 608 B.C.

Josiah was the son of King Amon and grandson of the infamous King Manasseh, who ruled some 55 years, filling the country with evil. He rebuilt the pagan temples which his father, Hezekiah, had destroyed; they encouraged all sorts of idolatry, sensuality and corruption in religion. He went so far as to burn his own son as an offering (II Kings 21:1-6).

Amon succeeded him, following in his father's evil ways to such an extent that his own servants murdered him in the second year of his reign (II Kings 21:23).

How Josiah emerged as such a righteous person from such a background is difficult to imagine. At any rate, the boy ascended the throne at eight, and apparently took over actual charge of this kingdom's affairs at 12.

It was probably in this year that he instituted a voluntary collection of funds from his people to rebuild the desecrated temple. It had been nearly 250 years since it had undergone major rejuvenation.

Six years later Josiah set his reconstruction program in motion. It was in the process of these temple repairs that the hidden "Book of the Law" was discovered by the high priest.

This Book of the Law was probably the Pentateuch, i.e., the first five books of the Bible; it was at least the so-called Book of the Covenant, the early chapters of Deuteronomy. It was probably the one placed beside the Ark of the Covenant by Moses (Deuteronomy 31:26), and later hidden for preservation.

Thus began one of the greatest revivals in history.

(For others in Biblical times, see Genesis 35:1-15 (Jacob's); II Chronicles 15:1-15 (King Asa's); II Chron. 23, 24 (Jehoshaphat); II Chron. 29-31 (Hezekiah's); Jonah 3 (that in Nineveh); Ezra 5, 6 (Zerubbabel's); Nehemiah 8, 9; John 4:1-42; Acts 2, and Acts 19:1-20.)

Of the many idols and altars destroyed by Josiah, we may say briefly that the worship of Baal was the most widespread paganism of the ancients; that Asherah was a fertility goddess, whose worship involved immoral practices; that the "host of heaven" refers to star worship, including the Zodiac; that the "pillar" was a symbol in the worship of As-tar: that Tophet was a burning cauldron into which children were flung as offerings to a god named Moloch.

The reign of Josiah is also described in II Chronicles 34-35, where a more complete explanation of his death is given (II Chron. 35:20-24). Neco, Egyptian pharaoh, set out to destroy the Assyrians, sailing eastward and landing probably at Acco, he had to cross the plain of Jezreel and the Jordan.

In Josiah's eyes, this was holy ground, and he took his feeble army out against Neco's hosts this reason, even after Neco declared his peaceful intent toward him. Jeremiah also tried to dissuade him.

Josiah's fatal encounter preceded the great battle of Carchemish, in which Neco was defeated by the young Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, ending Egypt's attempts to control the fertile crescent.

Josiah was killed in 608 B.C., and 22 years later the wrath of God descended, as promised, in the destruction of Jerusalem through this very Nebuchadnezzar.

The cameras recorded 30 minutes of the meeting of the Preparatory Commission (June 12) in the Vatican's Hall of the Congregations, attended by 35 cardinals and 27 other members.

Other sites of Christian history will be filmed in Europe and Asia with special attention to sites of previous ecumenical councils. In Rome the crew also was to film interviews with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, papal secretary of state, and Augustin Cardinal Bea, S. J., president of the Preparatory Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity.

"In general," they said, "everything proper should be done to prepare the souls of men to derive the greatest possible benefit from this sacred event both during its sessions and afterward in the fitting reception and implementation of the council's deliberations."

Dr. John Stensvaag, LFC president, led forces favoring union with the larger body. Visibly moved in announcing vote results to the gathering of over 1,000 delegates and visitors, he led a prayer of gratitude and asked guidance for the church to "go forward worthily in a manner good for the Kingdom."

The assembly hailed the historic moment by singing the doxology. The climactic vote followed two hours of orderly debate in which 24 speakers were heard. Eighteen of the delegates expressed themselves in favor of the merger and six spoke against the issue. All arguments were limited to five minutes duration.

In addition to opposition citing concern over the ALC's constitution and fears of administrative control over congregations, a charge of "modernism" and "neo-orthodoxy" was leveled at the larger body of the Lutheran Seminary at St. Paul, Minn.

In making the charge, the Rev. Karl Stendahl of Minneapolis also criticized Russian Orthodox Church membership in the World Council of Churches and claimed ALC youth instructional materials acknowledge "evolution" with illustrations showing the similarity between gorillas and men.

The larger battery of merger proponents stressed advantages to the smaller body by being a part of the ALC's widespread program.

Following approval of the basic merger agreement, the delegates passed resolutions authorizing a $101,339 financial effort in the Salvation Army, East Stroudsburg. Major H. G. Baker, officer in charge; Lt. B. Stoudt, asst. officer in charge.

Ecumenical Council Is For All RC's

MANILA — The bishops of the Philippines in a joint pastoral letter have told their people that the coming Ecumenical Council is the concern not only of the participating prelates but of the humble Catholic.

The bishops called on their priests to give frequent sermons to enable the people to understand the work of the council. They also asked that special campaigns of prayer and study be organized and lectures be given on the council.

Parson To Parson

By R. G. MAC LEOD

WE were treated to a splendid parade of the finest volunteer fire fighting units in the nation this past week. Marching feet to the snappy cadence of brass bands punctuated by the ear piercing wall of sirens from deep throated red fire trucks all combined to make one's heart beat faster with pride for the men of the fire brigades who give so unselfishly of their time for the benefit of others.

It seems inescapable that something always has to spoil a good thing. While thousands of little children watched in awe, their "heroes" on parade went by with their faces to the sky draining the last few drops out of a soda bottle or beer can!

The gutters and lawns in East Stroudsburg were littered with the glittering trash. In fact, the sun shining on the metal cans caught the eye and took away the impact of the colorful parade.

I am certainly not against a man having a cooling drink on a hot day, but there is a time and a place for everything. The units that allowed their men to relax in this way while on public display certainly were not thinking of the effect it would have. In so doing, they deprived the public of the right to be proud of each and every unit represented in the parade.

Our county units, carried themselves well and looked and acted like the top fire fighting companies that they are. Monroe County can be very proud of "their own" and we hope that the next time there will be no, repeat, no "litterbugging" of our town by a few outside units.

In our Christian life we are constantly "on parade" and from time to time we "slip" a little with the whole world looking on. A brother takes the time to show us our error, we correct it, and carry on hoping that it will be a long time before we "slip" again.

Remember, it is how you and I, who claim to be Christians, act that represents all Christendom to the unbeliever. You and I, are always "ON PARADE."

Vatican Meeting To Be Televised For First Time

VATICAN CITY — For the first time, a meeting of the Second Vatican Council has been filmed as part of a series to be televised to the people of the United States.

The film was made by the U. S. National Council of Catholic Men in cooperation with the National Broadcasting Company and will be shown as the first of four half-hour Catholic Hour programs in May of next year.

The cameras recorded 30 minutes of the meeting of the Preparatory Commission (June 12) in the Vatican's Hall of the Congregations, attended by 35 cardinals and 27 other members.

Other sites of Christian history will be filmed in Europe and Asia with special attention to sites of previous ecumenical councils. In Rome the crew also was to film interviews with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, papal secretary of state, and Augustin Cardinal Bea, S. J., president of the Preparatory Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity.

"In general," they said, "everything proper should be done to prepare the souls of men to derive the greatest possible benefit from this sacred event both during its sessions and afterward in the fitting reception and implementation of the council's deliberations."

Dr. John Stensvaag, LFC president, led forces favoring union with the larger body. Visibly moved in announcing vote results to the gathering of over 1,000 delegates and visitors, he led a prayer of gratitude and asked guidance for the church to "go forward worthily in a manner good for the Kingdom."

The assembly hailed the historic moment by singing the doxology. The climactic vote followed two hours of orderly debate in which 24 speakers were heard. Eighteen of the delegates expressed themselves in favor of the merger and six spoke against the issue. All arguments were limited to five minutes duration.

In addition to opposition citing concern over the ALC's constitution and fears of administrative control over congregations, a charge of "modernism" and "neo-orthodoxy" was leveled at the larger body of the Lutheran Seminary at St. Paul, Minn.

In making the charge, the Rev. Karl Stendahl of Minneapolis also criticized Russian Orthodox Church membership in the World Council of Churches and claimed ALC youth instructional materials acknowledge "evolution" with illustrations showing the similarity between gorillas and men.

The larger battery of merger proponents stressed advantages to the smaller body by being a part of the ALC's widespread program.

Following approval of the basic merger agreement, the delegates passed resolutions authorizing a $101,339 financial effort in the

Mass Controversy Centers On Speech

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

A puzzling question mark hangs over the movement to restore the "language of the people" in Roman Catholic worship services.

Despite cautionary signals, however, the drive hasn't ceased, and even if tempered in tone, seems unabated in vigor.

Latin has long been the main language of the Church's liturgy in the Western world, and a recent — widely surprising — papal edict appeared to reinforce that usage.

Yet, advocates of recasting much of the Mass in English maintain that the directive was not meant to block such efforts, and dealt chiefly with other matters.

It need not be a setback to the vernacular movement, said the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert J. Sherry, pastor of a Cincinnati, Ohio, parish and leader in efforts to stimulate fuller congregational involvement in worship.

"It may discourage some of the more timid souls who have been working for a more active, intelligent participation of the laity in the Mass," he added.

"But plenty of stout-hearted champions of the vernacular will certainly carry on the campaign to induce the coming second Vatican (Ecumenical) Council to permit a much wider use of the vernacular in the official prayers of the Church."

The council, first of its kind in 92 years, begins next October.

Meanwhile, hundreds of thousands of letters reportedly have poured in to Church officials urging revival of the "living language" in the liturgy, although many scholars defend the general Latin usage as an international link of unity.

What raised the cloud over the movement for change was a new apostolic constitution, "Veterum Sapientia," last Feb. 22 by Pope John XXIII, requiring seminarians to be thoroughly grounded in Latin, and its use in secondary courses and textbooks.

One brief reference instructed bishops and religious superiors to make sure those in their charge don't write against the Latin liturgy simply out of "an inordinate desire for novelty."

The Rev. John Lafarge, widely known Jesuit scholar, says: "I don't think this upgrading of Latin study in education of clerics will have any particular relevancy to the vernacular movement, except by those who wish to use it for that purpose."

Whatever the alternative, the seminary will become a unit of the ALC Theological Seminary, which is located on several campuses. Augsburg College will become a part of the ALC college system.

The Lutheran Free Church originally took part in the planning and discussion that resulted in the formation of the ALC but withdrew from the union negotiations after a congregational referendum in 1955 failed by 35 votes to gain a required three-fourths majority favoring the merger. A second referendum in 1957, lost by 15 votes.

Contempt Of Congress

During the debate over lifting the Federal debt ceiling to $308 billion, two Congressmen took the floor to tell of threats that were relayed to them. If they didn't vote for bigger debt, they said, defense contracts in their home areas would be cut back or cancelled.

Rep. Glen L. Ford (R., Mich.) and Rep. R. Walter Riehlman (R., N. Y.) both told of defense contractors, who made bee-lines from conferences in the Defense Department to the offices of their Congressmen.

In each case, the defense contractor had been told that his Congressman had better vote right, or defense contracts were in jeopardy. Whether this worked in some cases that have not come to light is not known. At any rate, the debt ceiling increase passed the House.

But it didn't work on Reps. Ford and Riehlman, and it shouldn't have worked on any Congressman who gave the matter a second thought.

Would the Administration seriously consider weakening America's defense, should cutbacks in spending have to be made? When about half the budget is for non-defense items, including some pretty frilly new programs, why should vital defense suffer? And with unemployment a persistent problem and the unions showing signs of disenchantment with the Administration, would Washington willfully throw thousands of defense workers out of their jobs?

Nothing is less likely.

And so it is evident what occurred was one more instance of applying pressure—any kind of pressure—to push a bill through the Congress. All our defense programs could be continued without increasing the debt, surely, so the real aim was to be sure of financing the more debatable programs which have multiplied in the Government lately.

Commentators have detected a certain ruthlessness developing in Washington that should trouble us all. The power now concentrated in the Government, and particularly in the executive departments, is being applied to acquire still more power.

Homeowners In Trouble

Most young people, like nestling birds, feel a strong urge to own their own home. It is a laudable impulse, and one that builds strong communities. To foster it, home ownership in recent years has been made easier than ever.

The results on the whole have been healthy, but of late there have been disturbing signs that the easier terms are not always used wisely. Some of the new homeowners are running into trouble through inability to meet their payments, most often because they have over-extended themselves. It is easy to do in our "pay later" economy, and contributing causes may have been lax investigation of the buyers' ability to meet commitments, and unexpected increases in the cost of suburban living.

The dangers of too-easy credit have been pointed up sharply by Federal Housing Administration figures. In 1946 only 10,453 mortgages insured by the agency were foreclosed. The figure jumped to 71,000 in 1961. Part of the increase was of course due to the greater volume of loans, but some is also attributed to the new Housing Act and the Veterans' Home Loan Act of 1961, which permitted down payments as low as three per cent and extended the life of mortgages to 35 and even 40 years.

Credit in many cases has been made so easy that old-time words like prudence, restraint and sound judgment are too often forgotten. Young couples are likely to forget that change is one of the fundamental facts of life, and that in the long periods covered by some mortgages there can be great changes, for the worse as well as better, in earning capacity, the character of a neighborhood, or the location of a job.

The present-day ease of credit has been a blessing to millions of homebuyers, when used with discretion. When misused it can become a real danger.

More On Doctors

When I read a paragraph such as this I find myself shocked and surprised:

"There is no sense in yearning for a long-dead world of large homes in which generations lived under one roof, in which American women had not yet entered business and industry, and devoted themselves to housework and care of the aged, simply to avoid the current problem of medical care of the aged."

"If we returned to that world, then the doctors would have to return to the era of dedicated doctors who cared for the aged in their homes via house calls at modest fees. Not one doctor would sacrifice his big fat income in the modern world for the life of the old-fashioned doctor to whom human lives were more important than money."

My own experience forces me to come to the defense of the medical profession. I live and, to the surprise of some, write my copy seven days a week and do many other chores, because doctors have kept me alive.

I have had such illnesses as certain death a few years ago; as a result of medication, operations, blood transfusions and constant care, I have doubled my working time. May I say that I feel about 20 years younger than 20 years ago. I know that only a few years back, anyone with my combination of illnesses, died.

That I live is due to a large number of causes, the most important of which is research in the functions of various parts of the body and in blood chemistry. This research costs millions of dollars and thousands of man-hours for which I did not pay. In fact, I could not pay for this preliminary work done in near-by and distant laboratories and on operating tables in thousands of hospitals.

"The house call at modest fees" is not an ideal to be sought for the prolongation of life. Even the Common Cold, when a cure is found for it, and there is not one yet, will be the result of long and heartbreaking research in biochemical and blood laboratories.

We need not fewer but more hospitals. It used to be that appendicitis was a dread disease. The other day, a small boy friend of mine, who had to have his appendix taken out, went into the hospital on a Sunday afternoon; was operated on Monday morning; was up on Tuesday; went home on Thursday; has already forgotten that there had been some pain before the operation. In my childhood, children died of appendicitis or of most internal operations.

I know about my heart doctor who serves a free clinic in his hospital, does special work in a Veterans Hospital and generally is on tap from about 8 to 8 any day. There is no 40-hour week for him.

We use a doctor is the country where we have a farm. He is a darn good general practitioner, the kind who makes house calls, doing about 100 miles of driving every Summer day. The nearest hospital is about 18 miles from his house and if there is no other way, he drives a patient to the hospital.

During many Winters, he goes to nearby universities for a refresher course. I regard him as an heroic character, not only because of the work he does for pay, but for the work he does for nothing. I know a good deal about his finances — fat fees, your grandmother's whiskers!

I was talking to a driver the other day who told me about a relation of his who was in difficulties with arthritis. When he told me the name of the doctor, I recalled how a small boy suffered a dislocation of his apex during a tonsillectomy.

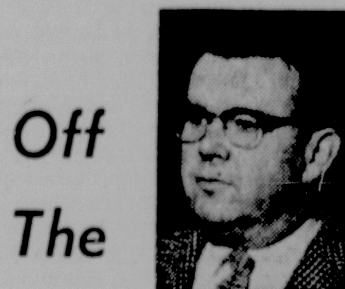

You have seen men and women who are crippled for life because their heads are twisted and lean on one shoulder. They cannot stand upright and they live miserably forever. What is it worth to save a child from that?

Well, a doctor did it. He was a stranger. He was about to go to Europe on his vacation. The parents knew that the child was in danger of choking because of the position of his head in relation to the respiratory organs. The doctor was famous for this specialty. He postponed the vacation. That child is now a man who has a brilliant career.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

We have convened more than 1,000 banquets in our time. Some were sports, others were political, and the rest testimonials. All, if our memory serves us correctly, lauded this one, praised that one, and heaped accolades on thousands of others.

It just seems when Americans put on a banquet, someone has to be toasted. In the end the toastmaster usually has touched the good points of every one in attendance.

Well the other night at the Eastern Pennsylvania Coaches Clinic banquet at the Penn-Stroud, Dr. Eugene Powers, the esteemed East Stroudsburg State College professor, did an about face. But it was a nice way. So nice that the listeners gave the head of ESSC's Education Department an ovation that is held only for governors and presidents.

In essence, Dr. Powers told the grid and basketball coaches to get off their high horses and do the job they were destined for. He called that often-repeated quote — it makes no matter who wins, it's how you play the game that counts — a lot of hogwash.

The ESSC professor told the coaches that if this is their creed then they are wasting time. "Of course, you want to win. Win within the rules and regulations governing the sport," he emphasized.

Powers, a man we have known only a short time but a gentleman we know always calls a spade a spade, intermingled his urgings to the grid and court tutors with touches of praises for their chosen profession. Citing their dedication, he pointed out that he didn't know of any other group in the teaching profession who strive to perfect themselves more.

"You attend clinic after clinic, study countless coaches in order to get new ideas and new ways to improve your coaching," Dr. Powers advanced.

As an afterthought, the former head of the Villanova University Night School said, "In all my years in education I have yet to encounter such full-scale action in the classroom field."

Dr. Powers stabbed the coaches hard and then pulled his well-worded weapon firmly but nicely from the wound. But they loved it.

It was the unanimous opinion of the 135 attending Marty Baldwin's dressed-up clambake that Dr. Powers was so right. In fact they left the Penn-Stroud ballroom happy they had the opportunity to hear the speaker, and unquestionably determined to do a better job in the coming year.

In our own non-coaching way, we did, too.

Dear Abby

He Won't Dance!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy. My father is teaching me how to dance. He is supposed to be a real good dancer (at least that's what my mother says.) Well, maybe he was considered good in his day, but he dances like they used to way back in the early 40's and I can't get it. Anyway, even if I could I wouldn't care to dance that way because no one dances like that any more. How can I cut off his lessons without hurting his feelings?

LEARNING TO DANCE

DEAR LEARNING: Don't be foolish. Let him teach you. It might come in handy when you have to dance with your girl friend's mother. In the meantime, get someone in your generation to teach you how to dance 1962 style.

DEAR ABBY: My two-year-old son sucks his thumb. I have discussed it with his pediatrician who advised me to ignore it. My problem is this: Whenever I take the child marketing, strangers will say to him, "Does that thumb taste good?" Or, "BIG boys don't suck their thumbs!" All this teasing and shaming have aggravated the habit. I have even had clerks pull his thumb out of his mouth while I paid for my purchases. What should I do?

MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: You can't control the remarks of strangers. Ignore them, too.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I received an invitation to a shower by the mother of the bride. On the invitation was written: "PLEASE BRING SANDWICHES."

I am not a relative. I wasn't sure if she meant I should bring sandwiches for the crowd, or just for myself, so I called her up and she said to bring a sandwich just for myself as she'd serve coffee. I have never heard of a shower like this, have you? And I never knew the bride's mother could give the shower. Will you please straighten me out?

NEWS TO ME

DEAR NEWS: It is news to me too. YOU are all straightened out, my dear. It is the bride's mother who is confused.

our taxing bodies from levying real estate taxes on Metropolitan Edison Company, who at present is one of the largest landowners in our community. We feel one of two things should be done:

1 — Tax laws should be amended to allow local taxation of utilities, or 2 — Allowances should be made in the school district reimbursement factor to compensate for such tax loss.

This tax loss is a compound loss. We first lose the taxes on property purchased by the utility; and second the State decreases our school reimbursement factor due to the inflated price paid by the utility.

We would appreciate your giving this your serious consideration. May we hear from you.

Mrs. Fontanella's Views On GOP 'Dilemma'

Editor, The Daily Record:

Thank you for the excellent coverage The Daily Record has given our Republican "dilemma" during the past week: the dual reporting of the County Convention on Friday, June 15; the account of our long distance telephone call with your office stating hopeful plans; and the actual "mission accomplished" report on the front page Monday, June 18. You printed the news as you received it. There are several points which I should like to clarify:

In the Friday, June 15 edition, Parke Unangst said, there were enough of them present — to make it impossible for him to recognize any members except those near the front of the room. In the 10th paragraph... "I could only recognize those in the first few rows whom I could hear."

I was in the first row and stood requesting recognition from the chair—I was refused, as were several others. Part of the confusion mentioned occurred after his refusal to accept the true "voice vote," since it was preponderantly yes and not aye. Also in paragraph 10, Mr. Unangst stated, "... the meeting was called to order according to the by-laws regulating the Committee..."

As vice-chairman I had telephoned Mr. Unangst on Sunday, June 10, asking him how the County Convention would be conducted, since this was to be the first time County Chairman would be elected by the committee people and not in the primary election. He said, he was waiting for a copy of the State Committee by-laws to be sent to him from Harrisburg and these by-laws would be followed for our County Committee had no such provision in the current by-laws.

I also asked him, since he was to be candidate for chairman, if it would be necessary for me to conduct that portion of the meeting. He answered, "No." In his twelfth paragraph, Mr. Unangst repeats, "... the meeting was properly announced according to the by-laws, conducted according to the by-laws..." and I was elected in a properly conducted meeting.

Before several hundred persons gathered in the ballroom of the Bellevue Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia on Saturday morning, June 16, the State Committee election was conducted by Mr. Geo. I. Bloom with a roll call vote; each proxy vote a written request accompanied by a person present in the place of the absent committeeman and given to the Sgt.-at-arms during the initial roll call.

During the election of chairman, Mr. Bloom left the stage while Vice-Chairman Mrs. Ruth Glenn Pennell conducted the meeting until he was elected by acclamation and escorted back to the lectern, made an acceptance speech and remained until the conclusion of the meeting.

Comparing last Saturday's Philadelphia example of election with this portion of our County election only brings to mind the phrase, "any similarity is strictly coincidental."

Judging Parade Music

Editor, The Daily Record:

I am sending you this letter in hopes that at the next parade you sponsor you will have at least one man as a parade judge who has some knowledge of how to judge a drum and bugle corps.

Did the ones who judged Saturday's parade have any knowledge of rudiments like a seven stroke parade or seven stroke raticamac... or perhaps... G.E. or M. & M?

The outcome of Saturday's parade was silly.

The Roseto Boy Scouts — best appearing Jr. Corps — what about the Silver Beavers or the Chessmen — both Jr. M. & M. corps. The Chessmen alone have at least 23 parades or M. & M. contests this summer. On 5 26 62 in Atlantic City, N.J., they won first prize

We should, perhaps, thank Mr. Unangst for "properly announcing the meeting", for he did call the meeting as stipulated in the State by-laws within 30 days following the primary. After all, had he set the time for 10 p.m. instead of 8 p.m. on Thursday, June 14, the committee people might not have had time to work on electing the chairman of their choice by midnight (the deadline). I... a plan "well-calculated to keep you in suspense"???

Also, as stated in my report which you published Monday, June 18, re the State Committee election — "After each nomination, I heard the clearly spoken question, 'Are there any other nominations?'" A phrase, I repeat, not offered to our Committee people Thursday night.

Again, if Mr. Unangst held a "properly conducted meeting" why the confusion? A chairman has the right to restore order before continuing any portion of any meeting.

In your defense and for further clarification, two seeming discrepancies in the Record, Saturday, June 16: 1st paragraph — "report... will be presented to George I. Bloom today..."

I had purposed to see Mr. Bloom. Talking to your reporter Friday night from Philadelphia before attending the dinner for all vice-chairmen, I used the future tense in stating my plan. I had not dared to hope I would be so privileged as to gain an audience with Mr. Bloom before Saturday. I was exceedingly fortunate — and as reported in Monday's paper, I did talk with Mr. Bloom Friday night after dinner (first going to Vice-Chairman Mrs. Pennell who referred me to the Chairman).

In the fifth paragraph, June 16: "Bloom was in Monroe County Thursday night". During my conversation with Mr. Bloom, Friday night, I asked him if he had been in our County on Thursday. He stated he had been invited, but because of the Philadelphia session could not include it in his itinerary. This then, was a rumor based on the fact of a known invitation.

On the third page of The Daily Record, Tuesday, June 19, the headline "Unangst recognized at State GOP meet". There is recognition and... recognition. However, one of Mr. Bloom's first statements to me was "You understand I can do nothing about your County's difficulty until after this Philadelphia session is over." I acknowledged this... and admire Mr. Bloom more for so stating. It would be a poor leader indeed who took the word of only one person when dealing with any type of problem. But, since I did represent the majority of our Committee people I felt it was the Chairman's right to know why I presumed to attend the State meeting and to instruct me if I was out of order by remaining. We did not discuss the "County problem", this was the assignment given to the State Committeeman by the same majority of committee people whom I, as Vice-chairman, was representing.

Thank you Mr. Editor, for helping us state our case. Freedom of the press and freedom of speech are to be cherished; and, when necessary... fought for!

Of that Thursday night meeting there might be some who would say, "two wrongs don't make a right"... In this case a very poor simile. Neither are wars "right"... but there do come "Pearl Harbors" when freedom is threatened.

We have a beautiful country... great freedoms... things to buy and money to buy with and TV to watch and we can get all excited when the handsome cowboy shoots the outlaw; or, the policeman captures the thief; we're elated when the "doctors" stand up for what is right, regardless of "top brass" directives and save the lives of TV's hospital patients!

I challenge some of these red-blooded Americans, registered or unregistered, to join the forces for good and do some "first-hand" fighting for our country, better government and high principles! It's wonderful to hug all these wonderful things we possess to our bosom and proclaim it's a great, big, wonderful world we live in... well, it's time a lot of somebodies woke up and discovered America; cal! Discovered America needs to be continually guarded and fought for if we're to keep it!

Pressure separates the men from the boys, the weak from the strong; if there is ever any loss is not the men, nor the strong; the "loss" will be the cringing, spineless, huddling forms of (quite often) chronic complainers, who don't have the guts to fight for right, or are too busy to get involved; or, are afraid of hurting their business! These are they who accept peace at any price and probably have the gall to criticize a president for following the same road.

One last note: On Thursday night of June 14, neither an invocation nor the salute to the American flag started the meeting; especially on Flag Day it seemed most appropriate to conclude our portion of the meeting with a benediction and the salute to the flag; which you recall ends with "... with liberty and justice for all".....

Firemen's Parade Dates

Editor, The Daily Record:

In Monday's Record we read that this is the first time that the Four County Firemen's Parade has been held in our town for 65 years!

It's beyond me, whoever "dreamed" such a "false" report up. Please be advised that the statement is false and untrue, as I, for one, remember far differently.

Please be advised that I remember very well that the Four County Firemen's Convention and also Parade was held here in 1900, and in 1911, also once since 1936; if I remember correctly it was in 1937.

Anyone doubting this is welcome to see me and interview me at any time. I will cheerfully prove and back up every word of these statements. I've lived around here since October 2, 1899.

HOWARD Smith, Miami savant, tells about a man who had been manager of a big golf layout and suddenly got a chance to run a brand new, six-story hotel. The third day he was there a lady about to have a baby was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance. She never made it. Her son — a healthy, bouncing, eight-pound baby — was delivered on the lawn.

A week later, the proud father received a bill which included this item: Use of Delivery Room, $50. "I won't pay," he complained to the new manager. "My wife never got as far as the delivery room."

The manager agreed that the father had a point, and tore up the bill. But he sent a new one immediately. This one read: "Green fees, $50." The father knew when he was licked. He paid up.

Area Marines Training At Camp Lejeune

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. — What is an internal combustion engine — what is a camshaft — how does a crankshaft function? Members of Wyoming's own 3d Motor Transport Battalion, Organized Marine Corps Reserve, were learning the answers to these and other questions yesterday morning at Camp Lejeune where the Pennsylvania unit is undergoing two-weeks annual summer training.

Arriving at this world's most complete amphibious base following a weekend motor march from the Wyoming area, the "Keystone State" Citizen Marines began busying themselves in the process of changing over from a motor transport unit to an auto maintenance unit.

The change-over is due to a reorganization of the Marine Corps Reserve — effective July 1, 1962 — under which the major part of the Organized Marine Corps Reserve will form the newly created 4th Marine Division.

Divided into three groups of 35 men each, the Wyoming Marine Reservists, including many from Monroe County, received instruction yesterday in maintenance techniques and nomenclature relative to the main line of light and heavy duty Marine Corps vehicles.

Instructors and facilities for the Penn State M.T. Unit are being furnished by the Motor Transport Schools Company, a division of the Marine Corps Supply Schools located at Montford Point.

Experts in motor maintenance technique, the M.T. Schools instructors will be responsible for indoctrinating the Wyoming Citizen Marines in auto maintenance procedures designed to assure the combat effectiveness of Wyoming's 3d Motor M.T. Battalion.

Concert Series To Continue

NEWFOUNDLAND — The first of a series of three band concerts for the benefit of the Summer music program at Southern Wayne Joint School was presented at the band shell under the direction of John Strupcowski.

The next concert will be given on July 22, and a third is scheduled for August 12.

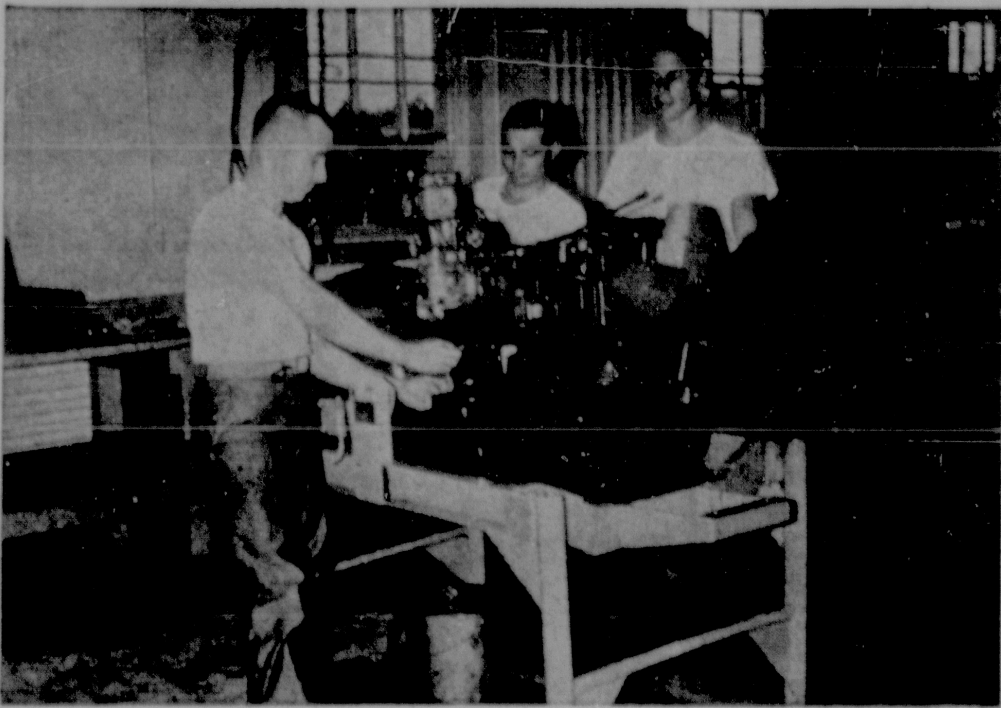

Band practices are held each Tuesday night at the school at 7:30 p.m. These are open to any former band member or to anyone who would like to participate.

GSA To Open Bidding July 11

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority announced Friday it will open bidding July 11 instead of June 27 on two construction projects at Pennsylvania State University.

Reason for the postponement is to give prospective contractors more time to prepare their bids, the GSA explained.

The projects include construction of a new south wing to the university's physical education building and an addition to the electrical engineering building.

MARINE MOTOR MEDICS—Stroudsburg area Marine Reservists of the Third Motor Transport Battalion of Wyoming, Pa. are shown receiving first hand training at the Engine Disassembly School during two weeks annual summer training at Camp Lejeune, N. Evangelistic Crusade Set BANGOR — Jack and Rexella Van Impe, a husband-wife musical Gospel team from Pontiac, Mich., will conduct the Blue Valley Evangelistic Crusade tomorrow through Saturday.

The programs will be held in the Blue Valley Farm Show building and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Van Impes have conducted their crusades throughout 12 foreign nations and travelled through Europe twice. They have just returned from the Holy Lands. Jack will play the concert accordion, and Rexella will sing, play piano, and conduct the 40-voice youth choir.

They were on TV for five years, and have albums in the record stores. They have presented musical programs on more than 100 radio stations.

Jack also is known for his Bible preaching. The Van Impes conducted a crusade two years ago in Pen Argil. The crusade is sponsored each year by the Blue Valley Evangelistic Fellowship, composed of pastors and laymen.

from a dozen Slate Belt churches. Granville Jennings, Wind Gap, is chairman of the group and Chester Kauffman, Bangor, is general chairman of this year's crusade.

High School Choir Goes To Europe On Tour

By Vivian Brown
Culture is paying off for the 55 members of the Princeton, N.J., high school choir. They're on a five-nation European concert tour as a result of their musical accomplishments.

The group is the first teenage unit selected under the United States cultural exchange program, says their choir master, Tom Hilbish.

"The main idea is to show what we are doing in musical education in this country," he points out. "Twelve-tone music which we will sing abroad is a unique accomplishment for young people. At the University of Freiburg the head of the music department will explain the Webern cantatas to the assemblage before we perform." The group will sing the cantatas in German.

Singing Five Anthems
The difficult-to-perform 12-tone music has no signature, is a serialized music that is laid out mathematically with soprano, alto, tenor and base each putting together lines and harmony.

It is "sort of retrograde," Hilbish explains. "One doesn't sing by rote." They must know intervals and be schooled properly.

Besides the two Webern cantatas, they will sing Stravinsky in Latin, and five national anthems of their tour of Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, France, Switzerland.

On the month's tour they will live in private homes in Hague, and at Hanover and Zurich they will be put up by students. Two high spots will be performances at the West Berlin Festival and at the school in Fontainebleau of Nadia Boulanger, famous teacher who was guest conductor at the New York Philharmonic this winter. There will also be concerts at UNESCO Headquarters in Paris and at the Royal College of Music in London.

Recognition came to the group last fall when they sang before the International Congress of Musicologists. At the time they received the invitation to go to West Berlin and many European universities offered to sponsor them on a concert series.

"These young people are dedicated to music, and like most intellectual students they want to do their best in music, one reason for their interest in the difficult 12-tone," explains Hilbish. "Our philosophy has been that music should be on the same plane as academic subjects. We rehearse each day for 45 minutes and once a week we have a 7:30 a.m. rehearsal, not my idea. We have terrific esprit de corps and the students asked for the morning time."

The three top students in the senior class are choir members. Six chaperones are accompanying the group abroad. They hope to stress that it is a scholarly pilgrimage, and that American young people can take their culture seriously.

"Young people with musical yearnings can learn enough music in a good school to keep them happy," says Hilbish. "At Princeton high school the feeling about music is contagious, handed down from one class to the next, and students eagerly await the chance to join the choir."

Brownie Circus Topped Off By Picnic Lunch

The Brownies of Troop 252 had a circus while presenting their annual Circus program for the benefit of students of Southern Wayne Elementary School under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Jones in the school auditorium.

Connie Keiter and Margie Gearhart, working for their My Troop award in scouting, assisted in the planning and presenting of the program. Nancy Haldaman, Ruth Ann Schoenagel, Joan Webster, Sharon Haag and Kathy Butler, "fly-ups" in scouting, returned to the brownie troop for the afternoon and "sold" popcorn, soda and peanuts through the audience.

Members of the circus troupe were Debbie Banks, who reigned as princess; Peggy Tobey, ringmaster; Trudy Krieger, knife-eater; Carol Welland, glass-eater; Susan Newcomer, the fat lady; Mary and Margaret Campbell, the tramp clowns; Candace Price and Carol Butler, as Pocahontas and White Wing, the Indians; Cindy Haldaman, Annie Oakley; Mollie Burke, the tightrope walker; Patty Woltjen, the gypsy fortune-teller; Diana Colan, animal trainer; Maria Stevens and Barbara Simons, the prancing ponies; Brenda Kelger, the skating bear; Jane Young and Linda Kristgau, elegant elephants; Linda Gilpin, the bouncing seal; and Anita Croft, the busy monkey.

After the parade and show, the participants were introduced by Mrs. Emil Wohlfart, brownie leader.

S. Wayne PTA Installs Officers

Carroll Fetherman, out-going president of the Southern Wayne Parent Teacher Association, installed the new officers during the final meeting of the unit for the school term.

Mrs. Frances VanBuskirk, of Panther, was installed as president; Mrs. Joyce Cykosky, vice president; Mrs. Jean Zane, secretary; Mrs. Lucille Schmalzle, treasurer.

A skit, "The Trial of Mrs. Weary vs. the State of Good Health," was presented under the direction of Mrs. Robert Ziegler, of Canadensis, homemaker instructor, by the SWJS Chapter of Future Homemakers of America.

Bonnie Price presided over the trial on the bench; Susan Akers was the prosecuting attorney; Marlene McLain was Mrs. Weary. Lucille Marro was the attorney for the defense, and Dawn Zacharias, Roberta Olsommer, Elaine Peet, Sandra Stoner and Linda Price were jurors who found Mrs. Weary guilty of failing to prepare a good breakfast for her family, and especially for her teenagers. The culprit was sentenced to a week of preparing menus for the approval of the Better Breakfast Bureau. A film on nutrition followed the skit.

During the business session, the treasurer reported a balance of $242.86. The auditing committee found the books in order, and the roll call resulted in the winning of the award for the month by the sixth grade class of Mr. Richard McLain.

There was a discussion of the community scholarship fund. The PTA voted to pledge $75, with the option of giving more if possible. The group voted to back the Summer music program as needed.

Appointed to attend the school board meeting in June were Jacqueline Croft and Ruth Fetherman; July, Charles Flynn and Carroll Fetherman; August, Frances Van Buskirk and Betty Caggiano.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Robert Beehn.

Tricot Fabric Invades Men's Fashions

New York (AP) — Tricot, a type of warped knit fabric best known for its use as women's lingerie, is now showing up as men's shirts.

The material is also being fashioned into evening gowns, bathing suits, slipcovers and shower curtains. In any case it does not look like the stuff of which unmentionables are made.

Because a variety of textures is laminated to the surface, the material can be as buff as suede or as fuzzy as fur.

Originally only silk was given the tricot weave. Now nylon or acetate fibers are used for the knotted knit stitch altogether.

The tricot knit has increased in popularity because it has its own wash and wear construction, the manufacturers say. Instead of a protective chemical finish, the fabric has natural grooves, like miniature gutters, which carry the water away.

Like lingerie, the outer garments made of tricot are also crease-resistant and often stretchable.

Lois Cramer Is Bride Of R. Slutter

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Cramer, 441 Broadhead Ave., East Stroudsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lois M. Cramer, to Roger G. Slutter, son of Mrs. George Slutter and the late George Slutter, 521 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Rev. Louis Johnson performed the 10 a.m. ceremony June 2 in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church in the presence of the immediate families.

Immediately following the ceremony a private reception was held in the bride's home.

Mr. Slutter is a member of the faculty at Lehigh University.

Picks Campers At Legion Aux. Meeting

Barrett — Gladys Brown, Canadensis, was chosen by the Evans Blitz Post 922 American Legion Auxiliary to attend the Keystone Girl's camp sessions. The announcement was made at the June meeting in the Barrett Branch YMCA.

During the business meeting, Lydia Christensen called on Bea Jones to give a report of the recent poppy sale. It was termed a success and the participants received thanks from the president.

Officers were elected for the coming year. Lydia Christensen will be president; Edna Mick, first vice president; Jeanette Hawk, second vice president; Jo Meeks, secretary; Gladys Hewlings, corresponding secretary; Edna Reisenwitz, treasurer.

Other officers were Lillian Shoemith, chaplain; Arlene Olker and Blanche Evans, sergeants-at-arms, and Mary Albert, historian.

A memorial service was held in honor of Ruth Everett.

Gold Star Mothers, Mrs. Jennie Evans and Mrs. Laura Blitz, were honored with bouquets of red, white and blue, and a gift. Refreshments were served at a table decorated with red, white and blue floral centerpieces.

East Pocono Bible School Exercises Friday

The East Pocono Union Vacation Bible School has an average attendance of 105 during the first three days of the school. Morning sessions are held each weekday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church at Echo Lake.

The four cooperating churches are Dutch Reformed Church, Bushkill; Sand Hill Methodist Church, and Middle Smithfield and Shawnee Presbyterian Churches.

The curriculum materials being used throughout the school are the cooperative series for vacation Church Schools.

The kindergarten department is under the joint supervision of Mrs. George Angle and Mrs. Harold Geist. The primary I department is being directed by Mrs. George Ott, while Mrs. Wesley Crowther is in charge of the primary II department.

Rev. Robert Tulenko is superintendent of the juniors and junior highs.

Those assisting in the various departments are Mrs. Emmett Fish, Mrs. Walter Wyckoff, Miss Melody Snyder, Miss Linda Roeder, Mrs. Donald Brink, Jr., Mr. David Lodge, and Miss Barbara Depue.

Rev. Wesley Crowther is the director of the school.

The Bible School will continue in session each weekday through Friday, June 29. The closing exercises will be conducted Friday at 8 p.m. in the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church.

Formal Centerpiece Arranged On Low Lines

Using Peruvian daffodils, pink ramblers and shiny hosta leaves, Mrs. Bernard Peters arranged a formal centerpiece for the Monroe County Garden Club.

She chose a green Haeger-melon shaped pedestal container and placing the heavier and larger flower in the center of the design, managed to give a feeling of stability.

The horizontal lines, extending over the sides of the container, although low, do not touch the table.

Because of the type of flowers used, the centerpiece is a good choice if the floral arrangement is to be used as a table centerpiece and then in the form of a room decoration. The adaptability of the design, due to the low balance, fits well into formal dining decor.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

I was wondering yesterday, as I sat before my typewriter, whatever happened to Spotty the Pony. I can remember in previous Springtimes, hearing rather frequent announcements over our Wyckoff amplifying system to the effect that "Spotty the pony is in our parking lot waiting to take little friends for a free ride."

Whatever Spotty's fate may have been, I am sure it was not the same as the rather dreadful one that seems imminent for our Old Gray Mare in the Children's department. Twice of late I have walked through the department, and observed little folks yanking her tail vigorously in an effort to start her galloping for the benefit of the smaller children perched in her saddle. Just how much our Old Gray Mare can take, I am not sure... but I'm willing at this point to wager that when she does depart for Utopia, she will be minus a tail. She doesn't seem to mind, however. Maybe her reward is in just being loved so much by so many generations of Wyckoff customers.

When I was quite small, Mother did the selecting of my clothes and I wore pretty much whatever she decided upon. But times have changed! More and more of today's youngsters, age ten and upward, are doing their own shopping, armed with money and a few suggestions from their parents as to what it should buy. My own daughter prefers this method, and while I cannot always approve her tastes, in the long run I find she's becoming very dollar conscious, and very aware of fabric, cut, and workmanship. She pays much more attention to seams and stitching than I ever did, and this pleases me. She has also learned why it is sometimes wiser to spend 4.98, for instance, than to invest a mere 2.99 in a similar item that is not so well made... that hasn't been sanforized... or that is skimpy cut.

What one hears when our young customers converse is often enlightening. Just the other afternoon, for instance, I passed one of our fitting rooms just as a youngster of twelve or so emerged in a strikingly-styled swim suit. "I won't buy this one," she told a waiting friend, "because it's too snug to wear again next year... but it does something for me, doesn't it?"

Her friend agreed that it did. "Anyway," the first youngster proclaimed, "I can get one less expensive and a little bigger, and have money for a beach bag left over."

Her friend nodded. "And just think," she offered — "If the suit you buy is a little loose this year, it'll probably be tight enough next year to look just like this."

"I thought of that," Miss Teen-Ager replied, "and then you know what? My Mom'll make me throw it away and buy a new one."

I chuckled as I walked away. I'm not sure how Mom's budget will fare, but here, very obviously, was a Little Lady who wears her Thinking Cap with her bathing suit!

Maudie Walton, who still comes in part time to assist in the Millinery Department which she headed for so many years, was thrilled to see a picture of her "big boss," Ben Ross, in a metropolitan newspaper, proclaiming that he had recently been honored at dinner at the Hotel Astor as the Millinery Industry's "Man of the Year."

"He deserves it," said Maudie emphatically. "He's a wonderful man."

His hats here at Wyckoff's are pretty wonderful too! See for yourself.

Monday will be Circus Day here at Wyckoff's with June Jumbo Values galore. In the morning there'll be free coffee and perhaps a pastry, and, during our Wyckoff radio program at 9:45 in our center aisle, customers may guess the contents of a few beautifully-wrapped packages. There'll be clues, naturally, and IF YOU GUESS THE CONTENTS OF A PACKAGE, THE PACKAGE IS YOURS. It'll be easy... amusing... and YOU'RE invited to participate.

FRANKLY SKYSCRAPERS—Tasty family supper or midnight snack for guests. These beauties may be made up in the morning and heated over charcoal while the lady of the house concentrates on being a hostess without fuss. Just the menu for drop-in guests or those last minute get-togethers.

This is the kind of weather to eat outside! Supper sandwiches taste good to the family or guests, and what's nice for you, they can be fixed in the morning, wrapped in foil, and heated over charcoal at suppertime.

If you have invited guests to your house tonight, these sandwiches make a good midnight snack. Fix your charcoal burner in the afternoon so that you only have to light it when you start to feel hungry. If the weatherman doesn't cooperate, these sandwiches can be heated in the oven.

Don't worry about not having patio lights outside — steal an idea from Mary Jane McCluskey. She found that stringing twinkling

Christmas tree lights inside porch awning gives a pretty effect. And for a unique light on her picnic table, she put a four sided food grater over a lighted candle.

For supper or snacks, potato chips, and crunchy carrot or celery sticks will go nicely with these hot sandwiches. Try the fruit punch with sherbert for a luscious and attractive accompaniment.

FRANKLY SKYSCRAPERS
Yield: 10 servings
2 packages (1 pound each) frank's
1 pound can baked beans
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons pickle relish
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
10 hot dog buns
10 slices cheddar cheese

Stuffed olives or small gherkin pickles.

Split each frank lengthwise so it will lie flat on the bun. Blend together the baked beans, onion, mustard, pickle relish, and celery seed. Cut each slice of cheddar cheese into halves. For each skyscraper place a frank, cut surface up, on a split frank bun. Top with some of the bean mixture. Place 2 cut slices of cheddar cheese on top of bean mixture. Place another frank, cut surface down, on top of cheese. Wrap each bun in aluminum foil. Refrigerate until ready to heat.

Place over hot coals for 20 minutes until cheese melts and bun is hot. Or heat in a moderate 350 oven for 20 minutes. Remove from foil and garnish each sandwich with an olive or pickle on a wooden pick. Serve hot.

CAMPFIRE PICNIC BUNS
6 ounce package sliced bologna
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons grated onion
1/4 cup pickle relish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1/4 cup mayonnaise
8 hot dog buns
Slice bologna into very thin strips. Add cheese, onion, relish, mustard, and mayonnaise. Cut buns in half and fill with meat mixture. Wrap each bun in aluminum foil. Heat over hot coals (or in 350 oven) for 20 minutes until cheese melts and bun is hot. Serve hot.

FRUIT 'N' SHERBERT PUNCH
1 pint lemon sherbert
6 ounce can frozen concentrated orange juice
6 ounce can frozen concentrated pineapple juice
1 pint cranberry cocktail
red food coloring
2 cups ginger ale.

In punch bowl, reconstitute orange and pineapple juices according to directions on cans. Add cranberry cocktail and enough red food coloring to obtain a deeper red. Just before serving, add ginger ale. Float scoops of lemon sherbert on top.

Hair Tinting Lifts Spirits Aids Beauty

"To tint, or not to tint?" That's a question as serious to most women as Hamlet's, "To be or not to be," was to him.

We accept the need for regular shampooing and the evening ritual of brushing to help keep our hair lustrous, yet many of us hesitate at the idea of employing hair coloring to further improve its appearance.

Some are dubious of the reception that tinting will receive from friend and husband. Others worry about how the bridge club will react when dull, gray hair regains the vibrant color of youth.

And many women feel that tinting requires hours in a beauty shop — hours they can't afford to take from their daily routine.

There really is no need for these fears, just as there is no need for a woman to have hair that appears old and colorless.

Hair tinting is as acceptable today as lipstick, powder and the other make-up aids women employ to present their best appearance at home and in public. The American husband takes pride in his wife's appearance and expects her to enhance her beauty with modern cosmetics.

If hair tinting helps her recapture youthful coloring, he'll accept hair tinting and like it. He may grumble at first — all husbands do — but secretly he'll be proud of his wife's glowing hair.

With today's modern hair-care products, tinting can be done by the average woman as easily as applying nail polish. These products enable you to restore natural color in one easy step — in the privacy of your home.

And you don't have to worry about the results. Latest developments in hair tinting products do all the work for you. Some, for example, contain a built-in timer that enables you to achieve the shade you want no matter how long it is left on the hair.

Hair tinting can work wonders for you in many ways. It can enable you to regain your own natural hair color, change to a new hair color entirely, or make the best of the gray hair that time has brought.

In addition to improving your looks, hair tinting can improve your outlook. You'll take a new interest in your make-up, your clothes and your over-all appearance. And others will take a new interest in you, also.

Brown ground beef — mashing with a fork to break up — and add to those canned baked beans for a quick lunch or supper dish.

Strawberry Festival At Gap Tonight

Delaware Water Gap — A strawberry festival and auction will be held tonight by the Women's Auxiliary of the Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian Church.

The menu, featuring barbecue, hot dogs, strawberry shortcake and coffee, will be served beginning at 5:30 p.m. At 7 p.m. items which have been donated to the group will be put up for auction. Anyone having items to be donated to the auction may contact Mrs. C.B. Rosenkrans at GR 6-0091.

Serve Canadian bacon, instead of the regular variety, with skillet-fried liver — just for a change.

Portable Syrup Makes Lemonade Join Instant

By Cecily Brownstone

Leave it to a lady of fashion in the 1830's to know the merits of lemonade.

Mrs. Sarah Josepha Hale, famous editor of "Godey's Lady's Book," made no bones about this drink. Of lemonade she wrote, "This is the best beverage for social parties; cool, refreshing, pleasant and salubrious."

Mrs. Hale's recipe was simple. "Three lemons to a pint of water makes strong lemonade," she directed, and added, "Sweeten to your taste."

But Mrs. Hale was not only an arbiter of fashion. Her immense practicality showed whether she was preaching the possibilities of the sewing machine (then a new invention) or whether she was running up a pitcher of lemonade.

Another of her recipes could travel around easily to porch, garden or picnic. Called "Excellent Portable Lemonade," it was a mixture of sugar and the grated rind and juice of lemon stored in a jar and dissolved in water as wanted. "It will keep a considerable time," practical S. J. H. advised.

Over 100 years later, Portable Lemonade is still one of the best hot-weather ideas we know. Here's a fine modern recipe for it made with half sugar and half light corn syrup. Why the syrup? Because it seems to give body to the base and hold the lemon flavor well. It's convenient as can be to comport to your 1962 patio.

PORTABLE LEMONADE

One-half cup sugar
One-half cup light corn syrup.
Two-thirds cup water.
Two tablespoons grated lemon rind.

Lemon juice.
In a small saucepan stir together the sugar, corn syrup, two-thirds cup water and lemon rind. Bring to a boil; boil 5 minutes. Pour through a fine-mesh strainer; cool. Store in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator until needed. Makes 1 1/4 cups lemon syrup base. For each serving, place 2 tablespoons of the base and 2 tablespoons of lemon juice in a tall glass; add two-thirds cup cold water; fill with ice cubes. Stir vigorously and serve.

Teaching Career Soars To Unexpected Heights

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

Possibly Margaret Smith's career began when, as she expresses it, "My daddy always threw me way up high all over the place." However, it got its start though, it has taken her up higher than most women ever hope to rise!

In fact, it has taken her so high you can look up to her achievements next time you visit the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. For the daring aerial ballerinas you'll see high above you in the arena will be the girls whom Margaret, in charge of choreography and aerial display at the circus, has trained and directed.

Years Of Practice

The reason 31-year-old Margaret Smith has trained them so effectively is that she herself has had years of performing high in the air.

"I wouldn't dream of teaching anyone anything I couldn't do myself," she told me in her British accent, as we walked together in back of the arena while the circus was performing one afternoon during its run in New York's Madison Square Garden.

While we walked, I tuned my ears to what Margaret Smith was saying as, at the same time, I turned my eyes to the sights around me. For if there's anything more exciting than the enchantment of the circus from a front row seat it's the magic of "The Greatest Show on Earth" from a behind-the-scenes view.

Costumed Cast

Everywhere you look there are glittering, dazzling, costumed girls waiting for entrances. Clowns appear even more grotesque when you're right next to them.

By certain doors you catch the whiff of hay and see animal trainers kibitzing while they wait their turns to go on. Floats all set for the strike of the band stand ready to get on with the show.

But my own private show for the afternoon was English-born Margaret Smith, who began studying dancing and acrobatic work when she was seven. So I turned my attention from the other sights and asked her how she got to the circus.

"I began my career at 15 as a performer with a girls acrobatic troop in England," she explained, "and during the years I was doing that some of the other girls and I came to the United States for an engagement."

She Trains Girls In Aerial Ballet And Acrobatics.

While Margaret and the other girls in her troop were performing in the States, Pat Valdo, director of performance for the circus, saw them and liked what he saw well enough to ask them to join the circus. As a result, Margaret and the girls who were performing with her at the time joined the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus in 1935.

Performed And Trained

In the beginning Margaret performed in the aerial ballet and acrobatics. But she also trained the girls in her troop, and her talent to teach stood out so much that, after four years with the circus, she was given the job she holds now — training and directing the girls who do the aerial ballet and acrobatics. So far she has trained 400.

In the circus's headquarters in Florida and on the road the training and practice is rigid, precise and never-ending. And before she trains anyone in anything new, Margaret does everything herself — proving to all of us once again that in order to really get to the top you have to know how to do all the work that gets you up there, too!

Gilpin's Party Celebrates Family Dates

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Gilpin were entertained at an outdoor barbeque at home in honor of Father's Day, Mrs. Gilpin's birthday and their 45th wedding anniversary.

Also observed was the birthday of Mr. and Mrs. William Oney. Mrs. Oney is a daughter of the local couple.

Present during the day were Mr. and Mrs. William Oney and son, David, of Hallstead; Phyllis Gilpin, of Scranton; Mrs. Robert Oert and son, Keith, and Seldon Gilpin, Greentown; Mr. and Mrs. Loftus Smith, Jr., and children, Pat, Dona and John Smith, of Sterling.

The Gilpins have a son, Charles, in California.

PAYING GOD'S RENT

Two centuries ago a glassmaker in Pennsylvania provided the land for the erection of a church. But he attached a string to his gift. Each year the congregation must pay to him, or to his descendants, one red rose, forever.

Annually in a traditional service the members of that church fulfil the terms of their deed. In the words of a reverent visitor, "God's rent is paid in coin more worthy than man's."

What strange thrust of imagination devised such a price. Certainly it was more than a man's love of roses . . .

Wisely he realized our tendency to take for granted our blessings. Fer- vently he prayed that we would forever treasure the privilege of worship. Gently he reminds us that there is beauty and happiness in every sacrifice for the support of God's House.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civiliza- tion can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Indians, Animals, Scenes Attract Children To Area

INDIANS, animals and story-book scenes attract the younger set to the area. The Pocono Mountains have the Wild Animal Farm, Phoebe's Little Wax Works, Moon Valley Storybook Town and Game Farm, and this year for the first time, at El Pocono Ranch, a Cherokee Chief - Robert White Eagle from Oklahoma.

Chief White Eagle - proclaimed the most muscular man in America - was educated at Indian School and Washington and Lee University.

The first Indian commissioned in the Army Medical Corps, Robert White Eagle is a Purple Heart veteran of World War II. Children enjoy the stories he tells in front of his teepee, while dressed in full Indian regalia, and they will also learn Indian sign language, crafts, roping, dancing, songs and Indian history.

Chief White Eagle has made numerous stage and TV appearances throughout America. The Wild Animal Farm, south of Stroudsburg, on Rt. 611, is an unusual zoo featuring deer, llamas, monkeys and other ordinarily wild animals in feeding grounds where visitors are allowed to mingle with and feed the animals in a lovely woodland setting. In the Nursery, after the fawning season, nursing bottles of milk may be fed to baby animals. The Wild Animal Farm also offers an exciting fire engine ride.

Matrimony Service At Local Church

THE FOURTH Sunday of June each year in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church at the 11 a. m. worship hour has become a traditional emphasis in the church life. This particular service is known as the "wedding bells" service. More than 1,000 couples who have been united in holy matrimony in the past 21 years of Rev. Eaton's ministry are invited to attend.

This Sunday Rev. Eaton will speak on the theme, "The Cost of a Home." Special music will be presented by the church choir and by Robert Currier, minister of music.

Deeper than any superficial emphasis, the service drives toward the heart of a great problem in America—the instability of the American family and home.

Before 50,000 In Berlin

Johnson Rated 4-1 To Retain Title

By JOHN FIEHN
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN (AP)—American Harold Johnson is a confident and prohibitive 4-1 favorite to successfully defend his world light-heavyweight title against Germany's Gustav (Bubi) Scholz in the outdoor Olympic Stadium Saturday night.

A crowd of about 50,000 is expected to pay about $175,000 to see the 32-year-old, once-beaten Berliner attempt to become Germany's second world boxing champion.

Is Spectator

The only German world champion, Max Schmeling who won the heavyweight crown 32 years ago this month, will be among the spectators for the 15-round bout.

Loose and relaxed, the 33-year-old Johnson and his wife, Mildred, went window shopping Friday on the eve of his fourth title fight. Johnson, of Philadelphia, usually makes no bold predictions on his fights. But for this one he said he expects to knock out Scholz between the seventh and ninth rounds.

Scholz, unbeaten in his last 23 fights over a four-year span, never has been stopped. His only loss was a decision to France's Charles Humez on March 11, 1958. The stocky German's won-lost-draw record is 85-1-6, including 46 knockouts.

In his last two fights the handsome Berliner stopped Americans Jesse Bowdler (sixth round) and Neal Rivers (fifth round) in April and May in Berlin.

Ranked Fourth

Scholz, who is ranked fourth by Ring and seventh by the American National Boxing Association, fought just once in the United States. He outpointed Al Andrews in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden and then returned to Germany where he found the competition easier and the purses better.

A southpaw, his power is represented mainly by his left hook. It is generally agreed that he has to connect with the hook to win. Johnson has been stopped three times and has 31 knockouts to his credit. His overall record is 68-8. The fight is scheduled for 9 p.m. (3 p.m., EST).

Indians Whip Senators, 6-2; Romano Stars

CLEVELAND (AP)—John Romano snapped an 0-for-26 slump Friday night with a pair of doubles, knocking in two runs and scoring twice, as the Cleveland Indians whipped the Washington Senators 6-2.

Dick Donovan (11-2) went the distance for the league-leading Indians. It was his eighth complete game in 15 starts. The tall right-hander yielded 11 hits, including four by Jim Piersall and three by rookie Eddie Brinkman.

The Indians, who also had 11 hits, broke on top with a pair of runs in the third inning. Singles by Donovan, Ty Cline and Al Tupa, plus Tito Francona's sacrifice fly made it 2-0.

The Indians added another run in the fourth frame on a double by Romano and singles by Woodie Held and Bubba Phillips.

Singles by Brinkman, Piersall and Chuck Cottier cut Cleveland's margin to 3-1 in the fifth inning.

Then the Indians came up with three runs in their half of the fifth to smooth the way for Donovan.

Washington 000 011 000—2 11 0

Joey Archer Returns To Ring Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Archer, unbeaten 24-year-old New York middleweight, makes his first appearance in 16 months Saturday night when he meets Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico at Madison Square Garden.

The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television at 9 p.m., EST. Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even.

Archer gave up the ring for a career in business after beating Don Fullmer Feb. 4, 1961. However, he changed his mind and decided to accept the offer of a Gonzalez match. His 30-bout winning record dates back to 1956.

Gonzalez has a 20-6-1 record. In two appearances this year he outpointed Kevin Scott and knocked out Ernie Smith.

Harry Janson Elected New PML Official

HARRY Janson of Tannersville was elected second vice president of the Pocono Mountain League at the contest meeting of the group held at Bowmanstown.

It was the first meeting held at Bowmanstown — a new league entry.

Four candidates were in the running for the post with Janson and Emil Gebauer tied for the election on the first ballot. Janson won on the second ballot. He replaces Clarence Smith to the position.

Others heading the league are Roy D. Fehr, president and Carl Nauman first vice president.

Janson was a former manager of the Tannersville team in 1948. The league opened in 1946. He managed until 1952 when he was elected as a vice president. He served in that capacity until 1957 and has returned to the loop with his new election.

Local archers are tied for third place with Bowmanstown. Izaak Walton, in first place, holds a slight lead over Slatington. West Penn and Blue Ridge, fifth and sixth place clubs respectively, round out the conference slate.

Dodgers Sign Schoolboy Hailed As New Bob Feller

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have outbid the other 19 major league clubs and paid a reported $100,000 bonus to sign a New York schoolboy hailed as a "new Bob Feller."

The bonus baby is Paul Speckenbach, a 6-foot-2, 135-pound right-hander, who was grabbed Thursday night immediately after his graduation from St. Francis Prep School.

The boy's father announced the bonus at $100,000. Rudy Rufer, the Los Angeles scout who closed the deal, said, "It was in excess of $50,000—that's all I'd like to say about the price."

Rufer said Speckenbach was the No. 1 prospect in the entire country, insofar as the Dodgers were concerned, and the scout predicted the New York youngster would be pitching in the major leagues in three years.

"He reminds you a lot of Feller," Rufer said. "He has a tremendous fast ball. He has a big kick with that front leg, like Feller, and blazes the ball across. He has a curve ball good enough for the majors right now."

Ford Shoots 7 Under In Holding Comfortable Lead

By GEORGE BOWEN

BLAIRMORE (AP)—Doug Ford, 36, snatched his only bogey five on the 13th and in a flourishing finish birdied the last two holes. His 36-hole total of 134 was 10 strokes better than par and he led his nearest pursuers by six strokes.

Ford's nearest threats going into the third round of the 72-hole tournament were Bob Nichols, 36-year-old Kentuckian from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Howie Johnson, 36-year-old Chicagoan.

Nichols and Boros went around in 70 strokes both times while Johnson pulled into contention with a second round 67.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Second round leaders in the $35,000 Eastern Open:

Doug Ford	69-65—134
Bobby Nichols	70-70—140
Julius Boros	70-70—140
Bob Shave Jr.	73-67—140
Paul Haviland	71-70—141
Charles Sifford	72-70—142
Tom Lema	75-67—142
Stan Leonard	72-70—142
Moon Mullins	70-72—142
Charles Bassler	70-72—142

Warley, who plays No. 3 on Houston's championship team back of Blancas' No. 1, birdied the last hole for a 1 up afternoon victory over huge Bill Garrett of North Texas State. In the morning round Warley was even par as he put out Jim Ewing of Southern California, 5 and 4.

The Houston teammates will meet over 36 holes for the title Saturday.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Hobie Landrith's two-run homer with one out in the ninth gave the Baltimore Orioles a 4-3 victory in the second game of a two-night double-header Friday night, after the Boston Red Sox won the opener 2-1 in 10 innings.

The drive down the right-field foul line came off Boston reliever Dick Radatz, who took over from starter Don Schwall in the ninth. Schwall was removed after suffering a muscle spasm in his side.

Three of Landrith's five hits since he joined the Orioles earlier this month have been homers.

Rookie Boog Powell hit a 469-foot homer in the seventh inning, the first ball ever hit over the center field hedge in Memorial Stadium.

Veteran Robin Roberts earned his third consecutive victory and the 237th of his major league career.

With one out in the 10th, substitute third baseman Mary Breeding made a two-base throwing error on Billy Gardner's grounder. Gardner moved to third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch by pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm. The knuckleball hurler had relieved starter Milt Pappas in the 10th.

Only three pitchers have won 25 or more games in one season during the last 10 years. Whitey Ford of the Yankees took 25 in 1961. Don Newcombe of the 1956 Brooklyn Dodgers won 27 and Robin Roberts of the 1952 Philadelphia team won 28.

Pirates Win On Miscues, Groat's Hits

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, taking advantage of Dick Groat's timely hitting and capitalizing on Chicago errors, whipped the Cubs 7-5 Friday night.

Groat socked a double and a pair of singles and drove home the Pirates final two runs.

The Pirates rallied from a 4-3 deficit in the sixth and came up with three runs off Chicago relief hurlers Barney Schultz and Don Elston.

Howie Goss led off with a single. Two outs later, he stole second, continued to third on Moe Thacker's wild pitch and scored on Schultz' wild pitch. Schultz then walked two straight men and was relieved by Elston, who was tagged for a run-scoring single by Bill Virdon and a double by Groat that scored what proved to be the winning run. Groat also singled home the final Pirate run in the eighth.

Double Auto Racing Show At Nazareth

THE fiercest driving of stock cars seen at the lightning-fast Nazareth, Pa., Fairgrounds in years will continue this Sunday night, 7:30 p. m., when Producer Jerry Fried unfolds two more stock car shows.

He'll have a full complement of modified-sportsman cars as well as a bevy of limited sportsmen.

The modified-sportsman drivers—from across the Atlantic Seaboard—will be driving on a track that has featured times on the straightaways at more than 100 miles an hour. These drivers, all professionals, will be among the vast turnout of speedsters to appear on July 4 at Allentown Fairgrounds in the Mid-Season Stock Car Championships—a prelude to the National Championships at Langhorne later in the year.

Nazareth's drivers, including Don Stumpf, Ridgefield Park, N. J.—last week's winner—have been competing at such a brisk pace that seldom does the same driver win twice.

Stumpf holds the one-lap mark, 27 seconds, and the 25-lap mark of 11 minutes, 31.2 seconds. He drives a 1962 Ford model which has been the sensation of eastern speedways in recent weeks.

The others in the lineup who figure to give Stumpf a battle this week include Al Tansady, Bob Malzahn, Bud Olson, Frank Schneider, Ken Wismer, Otto Harvi, Carl Van Horn, Les and Ed Farley, Fred Adam, Tom Sheetz, Bill Deskovich, Jack McLaughlin and a crowd of newcomers who plan to race at Nazareth until the big championship races at Allentown, July 4.

Mrs. Dyson Takes Second Women's Title

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. John Dyson, Valley Country Club of Hazleton, won the Pennsylvania Women's Amateur golf championship for a second time with a 4 and 2 victory Friday over Mrs. Harlan Semple, Allegheny Country Club, Sewickley.

In 1956 Mrs. Dyson also took the title at Reading.

The two women battled evenly until the 29th hole of the 36-hole final. Then Mrs. Dyson, four times winner of the Central Pennsylvania title, started her drive by winning four straight holes, and Mrs. Semple's game fell apart.

Mrs. Dyson took the 29th and 30th with birds and the 31st and 32nd with pars. She had a chance to close out the match on the 33rd but missed a three-foot putt while Mrs. Semple got a par four.

On the 34th Mrs. Dyson got a par four while Mrs. Semple's second shot caught in a trap.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A state representative said Friday he expects to receive a five-month study of the states fishing, boating and game problems by July 1.

Rep. Harris G. Beth, D-Clearfield, said he has been advised that the Wildlife Management Institute, Washington, D. C., will have its report in the hands of the Joint State Government Commission at that time. Beth is chairman of the commission.

Stan Snaps Cobb's Total Bases Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, who lost track of his many baseball records, added one more and distinguished one to the list Friday night.

He clouted a home run and two singles to eclipse Ty Cobb's major league total bases mark as the St. Louis Cardinals trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 in the first game of a two-night double-header.

The three safeties gave Musial a career count of 5,965—two more than the previous standard established by the immortal Cobb. To reach this batting pinnacle, Musial collected 2,133 singles, 701 doubles, 174 triples and 452 home runs.

In addition the 41-year-old Musial drove in three runs to move within 14 of Mel Ott's National League record of 1,860.

After the game Stan said he had been under the impression that Ruth, not Cobb, had held the total bases record.

"For some reason, this is one record I never paid much attention to," he said, adding, "I can't understand it, because my friends tell me this is a record which will be talked about for a long time."

"That's an awful lot of total bases," he pondered aloud.

State To Open Control Geese Shooting Area

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Game Commission decided Friday to open the Pennsylvania's first controlled shooting area for geese this fall at Pymatuning Lake area.

Albert R. Bachman, chief of the Division of Land Management, said two areas totaling 2,000 acres will be set aside for controlled shooting.

The spot is adjacent to the Pymatuning Lake at Linesville, Crawford County, where the state has had a goose propagation area for the past 25 years.

Another 2,452 acres, mostly state forest land, will be opened to public hunting. Including the existing propagation area the state now has almost 7,800 acres set aside for the goose management area.

The land extends from just outside Linesville to Hartstown and is bordered by legislative Route 206, State Route 285, U.S. 322, and the Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad.

A section of it, the former Hartstown Duck Club, is now in the process of being purchased.

Bachman said it is hoped to increase the annual take of geese in Pennsylvania by opening the new area.

About 800,000 geese migrate through Pennsylvania each year, but less than 1,000 are bagged by hunters, he said. From 50 to 80 per cent of the bag has been in the Pymatuning Lake area.

Bachman said that an average of 12,000 geese have been stopping at the propagation area on their annual migration south.

There will be no charge for hunting in the two controlled areas but hunters will draw by lottery for use of the 43 blinds established there.

The deadline for hunters to apply to shoot in the controlled areas will be Oct. 1 and the drawing will be held Oct. 5.

Shoots For 3rd Am. Legion Title

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Paul Garrison of Hershey will take a shot at his third straight Pennsylvania American Legion Golf Championship July 13, 14, and 15 at the Hershey Country Club.

All amateurs belonging to the State Legion organization are eligible to compete.

Garrison won last year's title in medal play at Beaver Falls and defeated Bert Sulley of Latrobe in match play here for the 1960 crown.

Corby picked up the win for Bank while Carretta was charged with the loss.

Lucille Ball, Teresa Brewer, Johnny Carson, George Gobel, Ted Mack, Steve Allen, Jack Benny, Red Buttons, Jack Carter, Bing Crosby, Jerry Lewis, Kathryn and Arthur Murray, Phil Silvers and Kate Smith are the stars who have been announced for the program.

Gelinas Named To Who's Who

JACK G. Gelinas, son of Mrs. A. J. Gelinas of 189 Anadomink St., East Stroudsburg, has been named to Who's Who in the East, which will be published by Marquis Publications in the Fall.

Gelinas and his family returned from Nigeria, West Africa, in April, where he had served as public relations advisor to Mobil Oil Nigeria Limited and Mobil Exploration Nigeria, Inc., since September 1966.

He has recently been named public relations advisor to Mobil International Oil Company — a Division of Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc. His offices are in New York City.

Gelinas is a graduate of the East Stroudsburg High School, class of 1947, and Boston University's School of Public Relations and Communications, where he received a bachelor's and a master's degree in public relations in 1963 and 1964, respectively.

State Jaycees' Road-E-O At Eastburg High Today

THE Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce Safe Driving Road-E-O will be held in the Poonos today with contestants from all sections of the state competing for trophies and a chance to represent Pennsylvania in the national contest to be held in July.

The contestants and their chaperones are lodged at East Stroudsburg State College where a "coke party and bar-b-que," co-sponsored by the Jaycees and the Palmetto Coca-Cola Co. was held last night.

The written portion of the test will be held at the college this morning. After lunch the contestants will move to the East Stroudsburg High School parking lot for the driving skill test. This will be held at 1:30 p.m. The public is invited to watch the teenagers demonstrate their driving ability through the course.

Judges for this portion of the test are: H.R. DeNise, chief judge, associate professor health and physical education, East Stroudsburg State College; Jack Trethaway, Stroudsburg police chief; H.W. Tebbis, Stroud Township police chief; Harry Campbell, Barrett Township police chief; Clark Frailey, East Stroudsburg police officer; L.C. Rice, Stroud Township assistant chief of police; Warren L. Grill, district service foreman of Bell Telephone Co.; Reed Grover, traffic safety engineer of Northeast Pennsylvania AAA; H. Nelson, field director of Northeast Pennsylvania AAA; Russell J. Steer, Division Safety Supervisor of Bell Telephone Co.

The awards banquet will be held tonight at East Stroudsburg State College. It will feature James J. Illingworth, public relations department Troop A, District 3, Pennsylvania State Police as guest speaker. The presentation of the trophies to the three top scoring contestants will be made by Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce state president, Donald H. Becker.

The Safe Driving Road-E-O is co-sponsored nationally by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, Insurance Institute for

Penal System Improvement

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Sixteen Pennsylvania legislators, looking for ways to improve their state's penal system, have wound up a two-day tour of Michigan corrections institutions.

The group, members of the Joint State Government Commission, visited the Michigan Training Unit at Ionia, a model medium security institution where youthful lawbreakers receive vocational and agricultural training and academic instruction.

They also toured Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, the world's largest walled prison. It houses close to 6,000 prisoners.

Other stops on the tour included the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia and Waterloo Prison Camp near Jackson, headquarters for a 13-camp network for minimum custody prisoners.

Wednesday night, the delegation of assembly men met with Gus Harrison, state corrections director, and other officials in the Corrections Department.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Saturday, June 23

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — In waning days of this month of many, varied activities, tread sufficiently slowly so not to default by overconfidence. Prevent needless errors. Rise to all worthy occasions, as you so well can.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Fine indications, with an unique surprise now or soon, unless you work at odds with congenial influences. Wrap up business without dallying; don't crowd those last minutes.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mercury's "take care precautions" mood urges you to be responsible, and to include opposition's objections, this is sure way. Harmonize thoughts and efforts to first-class interests.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Generally ungrateful day. And you can give it a further push in right direction. When goals loom close, strive to total endeavors and incentive. Let no little good things slip by unthought.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Indiscreetness rampant. Wait, not or opportunity, clear way for it to slide to you aside. And you're ready. Progress has its normal snags; we never understand all things at once. Advance fact, fore-

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — May not have the help expected, nor will you need much as you may fear. We often do best "on our own," throwing into play coordinated talents, & experience, gleams, prayer. Be cool, convivial.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Controlled and governed wisely, your actions and day on whole should produce immense satisfaction, better than average returns. So take along astute precautions. Maintain peace through vigilance.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Tailor your day to embrace something new and specially educational. Free time ought to be spent increasing mental and or physical dexterity. Shun that "not worth a straw" deal.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Fine Jupiter vibrations. Accomplish what things it is that order. We all can easily be sidetracked, so take care. What is sweet for one can be sour for another, remember.

December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Starts mild, shapable tendencies grow, and you must be perceptive and UNDERSTANDING. Keep standards high, sights on true objectives. Avoid useless detours in business or pleasure.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Transcend the usual (where it will not induce obligations) to grasp the extraordinary, which is available. During free weekend, take along fact, free thought, serenity.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Planetary Neptune in tip-top speed. Properly enacted and pursued hobbies, social, community affairs shine. Personal rate intelligent influence. Be consistent culling the good from the bad.

YOU BORN TODAY: True to your Sign and its attendant talents, then you are well equipped for first-flight success, happiness, and to assist others to achievement along your intelligent way. Numerous solidly established business men AND women in this Sign.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day it is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you
